

Washing - Answers

1. One has to wash every day.
2. The poet is tired of hearing the question: Have you washed your hands and washed your face?
3. The poet means he feels he is continually washing and cleaning himself.
4. He is asked to wash his face and fingers
5. He must wash before a meal, after a meal, and when he gets home
6. It means it is time to turn on the pipe and wash.
7. The writer is questioning the repetitive nature of such an ordinary task.