

Comprehension Worksheet
Sequencing

1. Rearrange the pictures below that show the changes the butterfly goes through.

2. Cut out and rearrange the following strips in the order that it happened in the text.

Butterflies drink nectar to stay alive.

Butterflies, like most living things, go through a series of changes in its life cycle called metamorphosis.

They have a short life span - they may last for three to four weeks or eight months.

Butterflies use their wings to frighten their enemies.

Butterflies have four separate wings.

Butterflies are "winged beauties in flight".

3. Map the passage "The Butterfly"

Write:

What is talked about in the beginning?

What is talked about in the middle?

What is talked about in the end?